Eligibility For Participation

PG students (MD/DNB or allied) in General Medicine, Pediatrics and Pathology and Transfusion medicine.

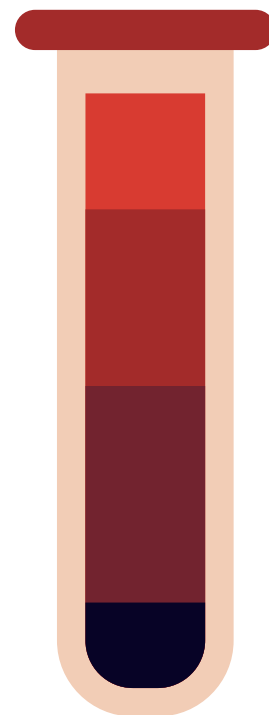

Teams:

Each team will be made up of a minimum of two and a maximum of three students from same or different specialties of medicine as described above. We suggest that the members are from different branches as this increases the chance of success and also makes haematology more widely known.

Proof:

A letter from the principal/ head of the institution must be brought regarding the training programme he/she is in.

(The person/team will be disqualified if this is not followed)

Overall Structure of The Quiz

Step 1

College level : The state level coordinator should forward an official request to the head of the institution regarding the first round of quiz to be conducted at the level of medical college and finally send one winning team for the second round at the level of state.

Step 2

State level : The state level coordinator is responsible for conducting the second round in which the winning team from each medical college within his/her state will contest the quiz. The winning team at the state level will go on to participate in the third round which is zonal round.

Step 3

Zonal level : There are a total of 5 zones (North, South, East, West and Central). The zonal coordinator will conduct the third round in which winning team from various states within his zone will compete.

Step 4

Final round : The final round which will be conducted at the national level. The winning team from each of 5 zones will compete at the Hotel Radisson Blu, Guwahati, during Haematocon 2017 i.e. 58th annual conference of Indian Society of Haematology & Blood Transfusion between 2nd to 5th November 2017.
